The Society will introduce Maine's 2011 Cherry Blossom Princess Kelsey Gamble and her family. She is the daughter of Leslie and Linda Gamble of Bethel, ME, and the sister of Maine's 2005 Cherry Blossom Princess, Sarah Gamble Erdman.

A 2008 National Honor Society graduate of Gould Academy, Kelsey was a Dirigo Girls State delegate as a junior and a councilor as a senior. She was active in theater and dance productions performed across Maine, was a councilor at local summer camps for a number of years, and has been involved in her community's service activities, programs and projects.

A Muhlenberg College Dean's List Junior, majoring in Spanish with a minor in music, Kelsey is a member of Phi Mu Sorority, the Muhlenberg Theatre Association, and the College Choir, and is a resident advisor for an undergraduate dormitory. She spent a summer studying in Argentina, and she recently completed an internship in Washington, D.C. at the U. S. Committee for Refugees and Immigrants.

Among her interests, Kelsey lists Nordic skiing, cross-country running, sewing, knitting, singing, piano, trumpet, dance and languages.

With her academic excellence, extracurricular activities, and volunteerism, Kelsey continues the 64-year tradition of Maine and the Society being represented by outstanding, highly accomplished young Maine women in the National Capital's largest and best-known non-government civic and social event which attracts national and international interest and participation.
